Tax Hike Plans Get Scrutiny By House Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's tax-boosting proposals to reduce a growing federal deficit get their first public scrutiny today from the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee.

As lead-off witness on the first day's hearings, Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy will argue for the two presidential proposals—a new tax on the lead additive in gasoline and a speedup in estate and gift tax collections.

The revenue-raisers, estimated at $1.6 billion in fiscal 1971 for the lead levy and $1.5 billion for the one-shot windfall under the speedup plan, do not come close to covering the deficit now generally foreseen for fiscal 1971.

Kennedy himself has acknowledged the deficit will exceed the official administration estimate of $1.3 billion. Most experts use much higher red-ink figures, and Rep. George P. Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, has warned that it will reach $13 billion to $20 billion "unless revenues are materially increased or spending drastically reduced."

Nevertheless Nixon's lead tax proposal has stirred little enthusiasm in Congress, either as a revenue-raiser or as an antipollution weapon.

The White House in announcing the proposal months ago said the tax would discourage the use of lead in high-performance motor fuels and thus curb the output of pollutants from automotive exhausts.

Critics have argued that it would either be inflationary—adding about 2.3 cents to the average cost of each gallon of gasoline—or, if it eliminated the use of lead additives, would fail as a revenue-raiser.

The Ways and Means Committee also will consider Nixon's request for another extension of the excise taxes on telephone service until Jan. 1, 1972.

This perennial proposal, considered sure of adoption, would prevent a revenue loss of $650 million in fiscal 1971 and twice that much in fiscal 1972.

The estate and gift tax proposal would not alter the rates or structure of those taxes. A general overhaul of the two taxes is under study by Ways and Means, but the committee is not expected to produce any recommendations for specific changes this year.

The Nixon speedup proposal calls for the reporting and collection of the tax on gifts each quarter, instead of once a year.

The estate tax would be payable, on an estimated basis, within seven months after death for estates valued at $150,000 or more. The estimated tax would be subject to adjustment when the actual value of the estate was finally determined. Present law permits payment of the estate tax up to 15 months after death.

Reorganization Of Congress Going Slowly

House Leaders Set Timetable On Changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — House leaders have set a three-day timetable to complete action on a comprehensive congressional reorganization bill. They may miss their mark.

In eight days of actual debate since consideration of the 140-page measure began, the House has disposed of only 35 pages. And some of the decisions already made are subject to review.

The debate started July 13. Next Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday have been earmarked to complete House action on the bill calling for landmark changes in some ancient congressional practices. The bill has not been considered by the Senate, which must approve the House version if it is to become law.

Because of the time element—Congress has many other legislative headaches to be dealt with before final adjournment—the reorganization bill may die of neglect if not disposed of soon.

Some of its more controversial provisions still must be considered. They deal with creation of a joint House-Senate committee on data processing, overhauling of the legislative reference service, rights of minority committee members, and curbs on Senate addition of non-germane provisions to House-passed bills.

The outcome of the pending fights could have a vital effect on the final House votes. Some provisions already approved, subject to reconsideration, have cost the measure some of its earlier support.

They call for publication of heretofore non-recorded House votes and limited broadcasting of committee sessions, as well as refusal to alter the time-hallowed seniority system of advancement through longevity.

WHS Grad Michael Webb Found Dead In Philippines

A body found in the Philippine Islands has been identified as that of Michael Webb, 23, a former Washington C. H. resident and a 1965 graduate of Washington High School.

Word of the Navy veteran's death was received here Tuesday by Mrs. Larry Bennett, 918 Yeoman St., a cousin. Webb lived with the Bennetts during his senior year at WHS.

The body was found Sept. 1 but it bore no military identification tags. Identity finally was established Monday through dental charts.

Webb, who had served four years in the Navy, had been sent to the Philippines for a rest period after several tours of duty in the Vietnam area.

The Navy would give no details of the cause of death until a formal investigation is completed.

The body will be returned to Moberly, Mo., where Webb's

Nixon Presses For 11th Hour Settlement

Rail Strike Deadline Nears

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration pressed today for an 11th hour wage settlement to avert a scheduled nationwide strike of some 500,000 railroad workers one minute after midnight tonight.

"We could have a strike," said Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Usery of the dispute between the nation's rail industry and four AFL-CIO unions.

"But they've each said they could postpone it if there is some meaningful progress," Usery said of the union negotiators.

He declined to say whether President Nixon would invoke his power under federal labor law to delay any strike for 60 days.

Usery conceded there was no progress in four hours of government sponsored talks Tuesday, but added "that meeting was very worthwhile. I think it cleared the air."

He called both sides back into negotiations today. But Harold Crotty, president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, said after Tuesday's fruitless talks "We're further apart than when we started."

Retorted chief industry negotiator John P. Hilt: "No, we couldn't be."

He declined to say whether the railroads had made a counter offer, but union officials said there had been no industry wage offer.

In addition to Crotty's approximately 100,000 rail maintenance workers, the talks involve approximately 200,000 workers each in the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks headed by C. L. Dennis and the United Transportation Union headed by Charles Luna, and another 2,000 dining car workers represented by Vice President Richard Smith of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees.

"The talks are going nowhere," said Smith, who joined Dennis and Luna in reaffirming the strike deadline at 12:01 a.m. Thursday unless "meaningful" negotiations take place. Crotty has indicated a willingness to postpone the deadline, but also only if there are "meaningful" talks.

Hilt said the unions' wage demands alone would cost $2.2 billion. (Please Turn To Page 2)

Local Railroaders 'Mark Time'

Approximately 50 local railroaders were marking time Wednesday in anticipation of a walkout at 12:01 a.m. Thursday unless presidential action or a court injunction halts a nationwide rail strike.

Forty Fayette County Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employees have received instructions from their unions to quit work after midnight unless issues are resolved. A strike would affect approximately half a dozen local DT&I employees. The Penn Central has only one representative here. Its five train crew members live in Circleville.

Arab Guerrillas Grab BOAC Jet

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A British jetliner with 76 persons aboard was hijacked in the Middle East today. Palestinian guerrillas threatened to blow up the aircraft when it landed at Beirut airport unless it was provided with fuel to fly on to another destination.

The plane later left Beirut amid speculation it was headed for the Jordanian desert airstrip where two other captive planes were under guerrilla guard.

This was the fifth hijacking attack this week by Palestine guerrillas. The Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine assumed responsibility for today's incident, as it had for the others.

British Overseas Airways Corp. VC10 airliner was hijacked and ordered to fly to Beirut shortly after it took off from Bahrain in the Persian Gulf.

The airline said 66 passengers and 10 crew members were aboard.

Representatives of the International Red Cross were negotiating for the freeing of two other Western airliners and 178 hostages held by guerrillas on a desert airstrip in Jordan.

BOAC officials said Arab guerrillas captured the control tower of Beirut airport and instructed the British jet "to land, refuel and fly on to a further destination."

Later a fuel truck drove up to the plane, which has been on a Bombay-London flight.

It was believed in Beirut that the Popular Front grabbed the British plane to put pressure on the British government for the release of Leila Khaled, the 24-year-old guerrilla held in London since she and a male companion failed in their attempt to take over an Israeli airliner Sunday. The man was killed by Israeli security agents aboard the plane.

Before the BOAC hijacking, the British government had appeared to be preparing to release Miss Khaled, joining Switzerland and West Germany in meeting the demands of the hijackers holding the planes in Jordan.

Political sources in London said the girl would be shipped out of Britain as soon as the Popular Front released the two planeloads of hostages held at the El Khana airstrip 25 miles northeast of Amman.

The Popular Front had said it would blow up the two planes at 10 p.m. EDT today unless the British released Miss Khaled and the Swiss and West German governments freed six other guerrillas arrested for terrorist attacks involving planes.

A spokesman in Amman for the Front said today that his organization was demanding that all seven captive guerrillas arrive in Jordan together on a AERATING — Pumping equipment and hoses from the Washington Fire Department were used to recirculate and aerate water in Paint Creek Wednesday morning in an effort to prevent the death of several hundred fish. The fish had been spotted earlier in the morning with their heads out of the water. The cause of the problem has not yet been determined.

Paint Creek Pollution Threatens Fish

Hundreds of fish gasping for air were spotted Wednesday morning in Paint Creek between Eymann Park and the wrecked Temple Street bridge.

Members of the Washington Fire Department were called out to use pumping equipment to aerate and recirculate water in the four-block-long "still water" area of the creek.

About 20 fish, mostly shiners, were dead by noon, while two to 20-pound carps and large catfish could be seen swimming in the murky water, occasionally lifting their heads above the surface to breathe.

The cause of the problem which forced the fish to the surface for air has not been determined. A ranger from the Ohio Department of Natural Resources said that either oxygen depletion or some form of poison could have caused the strange behavior.

Tests were made of the water temperature and samples of dead fish and water were taken from the area. They will be sent to the laboratories of the Natural Resources Department for study and analysis.

The effect of the aeration on the fish will not be known until Thursday morning. If the fish survive the night they will be all right, said one of the rangers.

City Manager Clarence A. Christman and Police Chief Rodman Scott were at the site

Wednesday morning to investigate.

A possible health hazard could be caused by the death of a large number of the fish within the city limits.

Booby Traps Are Blamed For Half Of Viet Losses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say as many as half the 43,000 Americans who have died in the Vietnam war may have been killed by booby-trap devices.

The official military estimate of booby-trap casualties is much lower. But, because there is no precise record of the cause of wounds, the figure could be much higher, officials say.

A rough Pentagon breakdown of combat deaths attributes 17,000 to small-arms fire; 8,000 to multiple fragmentation wounds caused by mortars and artillery; 3,000 in aircraft crashes, and 6,500 to mines, booby traps and grenades. The rest are blamed on miscellaneous causes.

Included in these figures are 10,717 Marines killed in the war. Twenty-four per cent—or 2,600—were killed by mines, booby traps and miscellaneous explosions.

It is not only U.S. soldiers who are killed by booby traps. These devices are expected to take an increasing toll of Vietnamese as the fighting trails off into more classic guerrilla warfare.

Extensive Army and Marine programs to get at the problem are receiving as much attention as ever. Latest twists are mine-sniffing dogs and ex-Viet Cong troopers dropping by units for lectures.

The booby trap also has taken on political ramifications. Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., has echoed some antiwar claims that half the Americans killed in the war met death this way.

They "were not killed by front line Viet Cong or North Vietnamese troops," he said in a recent speech. "They were killed by South Vietnamese peasants—men, women and children—who planted mines and booby traps."

Cranston is interpreting Pentagon figures and his own sources, an aide says. He refuses to divulge the sources.

However, some Pentagon officers concede this could be true. But, they say, it is hard to pinpoint who plants the explosives and why.

The fighting began before dawn when about 200 North Vietnamese overran the Tra Bong District headquarters and a neighboring South Vietnamese Ranger camp 60 miles southeast of Danang.

Fifteen hours later and 13 miles to the southeast, North Vietnamese troops fired about 85 mortar shells at an American artillery base called Stinson, then followed up with a ground assault that helicopter gunships and artillery helped back.

Enemy troops also attacked a militia outpost less than a mile east of Mo Duc, a district town 18 miles southeast of Quang Ngai City.

Their names were being withheld pending notification of relatives, said Butler County Police who did not release any other details.

Political Unknown Stops Faubus Comeback In Arkansas

By WALTER R. MEARS
AP Political Writer

Dale Bumpers, who emerged from the political obscurity of a country law practice, has won the Democratic nomination for governor of Arkansas, crushing the comeback campaign of former governor Orval E. Faubus.

And in Florida, Rep. William C. Cramer captured the Republican nomination to the Senate, ending the bitter quest by G. Harold Carswell for a seat in the chamber that denied him a place on the Supreme Court.

Carswell, whose defeat was expected, and Faubus, loser in a startling upset, were the big-name political casualties as eight states held primary elections Tuesday.

The Arkansas runoff was surprising not only for the outcome, but for the towering proportions of the Bumpers victory.

With virtually all precincts counted, Bumpers had 257,385 votes to 181,089 for Faubus, who served six terms as governor, retired undefeated four years ago, and became manager of an amusement park called Dogpatch USA.

Bumpers campaigned with a promise of fresh, aggressive leadership—he seldom got more specific—and said Faubus had nothing new to offer Arkansas.

Bumpers, 45, and making his first bid for state office, will challenge Republican Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller in the Nov. 3 election.

Nobody paid much attention to Bumpers, a lawyer from Charlestown, population 1,350, until he staged a surprising race and emerged second to Faubus in the first, eight-way primary. Faubus got 36 per cent of the vote in that one, far short of the majority required for nomination.

In other key races: —Florida's flamboyant Republican Gov. Claude R. Kirk fell short of a majority in his re-nomination bid, and was forced into a Sept. 29 runoff against millionaire drugist Jack Eckerd. Kirk had 48 per cent of the vote, Eckerd 37 per cent, in a three-man field.

Att. Gen. Earl Faircloth and Reubin Askew, a state senator, will meet in a runoff for the Democratic nomination for governor.

—Vermont Democrats nominated Philip H. Hoff, a former governor, to run for the Senate against Republican Sen. Winston L. Prouty. With 88 per cent of the vote counted, Hoff had 19,471 votes, Fiore L. Bove, a conservative state senator, had 6,442, and William H. Meyer, a former congressman, had 3,651.

But Meyer also is running as the candidate of a liberal Democratic faction, and that could pry votes away from Hoff in November.

Prouty was unopposed for re-nomination, but he got more votes than anybody else on either primary ballot, and appears certain of the favorite's role in his race against Hoff.

Gov. Walter Peterson of

New Hampshire appeared to have narrowly withstood the conservative challenge of re-nomination by Melvin Thompson, a lawbook publisher, Roger Crowley Jr., a former state resource commissioner, won the Democratic nomination for governor.

—Patrick J. Lucey, a political associate of the Kennedys, captured the Democratic nomination for governor of Wisconsin, defeating Donald Peterson, once the national chairman of the liberal New Democratic Coalition.

—Florida Democrats gave the Senate primary edge to former Gov. Farris Bryant, who had 220,070 votes, but Lawton Chiles, a state senator, got 177,919, and forced a Sept. 29 runoff for non-

Plane Crash Due To Tail Hitting Runway

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration officials say a DC8 jetliner that crashed Tuesday at Kennedy airport killing all 11 crew members apparently scraped its tail on the runway during takeoff.

The Trans International Airlines plane was on a ferry flight to Dulles International Airport at Washington where it was to have picked up 250 youths for a charter flight to Europe.

As it left the runway carrying only the crew, it rose almost vertically to a height of about 300 feet, then tilted on its left side and plunged to earth, exploding in flames, the FAA said.

The four crewmen and seven stewardesses aboard all were from California.

ination to run against Cramer. The Florida Senate seat at stake is being vacated by Sen. Spessard L. Holland, a Democrat, who is retiring. While Democrats outnumber Republicans 3 to 1 in Florida, the GOP is counting on capturing the seat in November.

Cramer heads into the general election campaign with a solid 63 per cent primary showing to bolster his standing.

He had 198,671 votes, with the tally nearly completed, Carswell had 109,159.

"I will never regret having made the fight," said Carswell, who resigned his lifetime tenure as a federal appeals judge for a campaign in which he charged the Senate put him through an inquisition before rejecting his nomination to the Supreme Court.

Elsewhere, Vermont's Republican Gov. Deane C. Davis swept to renomination with 80 per cent of the vote. Leo O'Brien Jr., a state senator, won the Democratic nomination to oppose him.

In Arizona, Sam Grossman, a Phoenix shopping center executive, won easily in a three-way race for the Democratic nomination to oppose Republican Sen. Paul J. Fannin. Grossman, 41, had a lead of better than 2-to-1 over nearest contender John Kruglick, a Phoenix pediatrician. Fannin, meanwhile, was unopposed for renomination.

Raul Castro, a Tucson attorney and former ambassador to Bolivia, also topped two opponents en route to the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in Arizona. He will face Republican Gov. Jack Williams, who was unchallenged in the primary.

There were no major nomination contests in Colorado and Utah, the day's other primary states.

Lightning Hits Power Lines, Causes Damage

An evening thunderstorm, accompanied by gusty winds and brilliant lightning, moved through Fayette County Tuesday, leaving behind scattered reports of power and telephone outages and many damaged television sets.

Dayton Power and Light Co. crews worked from 6:05 p.m. until 12:30 a.m. restoring service, principally in the Jeffersonville area, after bolts of lightning knocked out a feeder line and numerous transformers.

The rain which accompanied the storm ranged in amount across the county. Gale Parrett at Parrott Station reported a half inch while only .23-inch was recorded in Washington C. H. by Coyt A. Stookey. At New Holland it was even lighter.

However, in London a goose-drowning 2.62-inch rainfall was reported as a weakening cool front moved through Madison County.

A FEEDER LINE at the Interstate 71-Ohio 41 interchange was struck by lightning and caused a power outage for DP&L customers in Sedalia, Bookwalter and the surrounding rural area. Residents in approximately five square miles were affected by the 1½-hour blackout.

Numerous transformers got direct hits from lightning in Washington C. H., in the Jeffersonville area, at New Holland and as far south as Caretown in Highland County, which is also served by the Washington C. H. District DP&L office.

Approximately 30 to 40 Ohio Bell customers were without service during the night due to scattered lightning strikes. Workmen were restoring service today.

Lightning struck a transformer on a utility pole near the home of Blanch Welch, 206 Florence St., at about 6:34 p.m. The surge entered Mrs. Welch's home and damaged her television set. City firemen responded, but there was no fire when they arrived.

A short in wiring damaged a neon sign at Anderson's Restaurant, Clinton Ave., at 12:05 a.m. Wednesday. Firemen said there was no damage to the building.

Insurance companies were receiving numerous claims Wednesday from residents throughout the county reporting lightning damage to television sets and roofs.

Service by Court Cable Television Co. was also affected in Washington C. H. for approximately an hour Tuesday evening, a spokesman said.

More thunderstorm activity is forecast for Fayette County Thursday with considerable cloudiness building up tonight. The high temperature in Washington C. H. Tuesday was 86 degrees with a low during the night of 62, a balmy 14 degrees warmer than the low reported this date last year.

2 Prep Gridders Reported Killed By Lightning Bolt

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two 14-year-old football players at suburban Beachwood High School, Arny Finkle and Robert Jacobs, were killed Tuesday when struck by lightning as they were leaving the football practice field.

A spokesman at Suburban Community Hospital said doctors tried all possible methods of reviving the boys, including heart massage and adrenalin injection.

The spokesman said four other boys and the freshman football coach were knocked to the ground by the lightning but not injured seriously.

A similar incident Monday killed two young gridirers in St. Petersburg, Fla., as their team huddled on the practice field. Several players, coaches and spectators also were knocked off their feet.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Southern Ohio points caught the heaviest rainfall in the wide-ranging storms of late Tuesday afternoon and evening, and the Zanesville area reported 3.33 inches fell, closing many Muskingum County roads.

Other rainfall figures reported by the weather bureau included Columbus 1.60 inches, Chillicothe .95, and Circleville 2.17.

Lightning accompanied the storms in most areas, killing two persons in the Cleveland area, and one in Columbus. Electrical service was disrupted in some districts.

Canary Named

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said today he has promoted Robert B. Canary to state welfare director, succeeding Denver L. White.

Winkle Elected President Of Local Community Chest

George Winkle, district manager of the Dayton Power & Light Co., was named president of the Fayette County Community Chest by the board of directors Tuesday evening. He succeeds Leroy Barton.

Pat Palmaccio, Mead Container Corp. plant manager, was named first vice president; James Wright, manager of the Landmark feed mill, second vice president; Miss Mary Frances Snider, of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, treasurer; and Perse E. Harlow, of Harlow Business Service, secretary.

The board adopted this watchword for the campaign: "If You Don't Do It, I Won't Be Done."

The campaign to raise $40,000 to give financial support to the programs of 11 different organizations here next year, will get under way Sept. 21 with the business and industry employee solicitation.

The campaign will be conducted through three basic divisions again this year. The solicitation of business and industry and professional people is scheduled to start Oct. 5 and the house to house canvass in the city, villages and rural area is to get under way Oct. 12.

THE BOARD expressed the hope that the goal will be reached and the campaign ended by Oct. 31.

The new president commented that the theme for the campaign "points up the need for corporation of everyone in the county." He also noted that the 11 organizations serve nearly everyone in the community, either directly or indirectly.

Palmaccio was delegated to head the business division of the campaign; Wright the employee group solicitation; Mrs.

and said the matter will be investigated by the Postal Inspection Service.

The Clark County Council of Churches has advised clergymen to ignore the letters. The Rev. Kenneth Murphy, a council officer, called the venture "an amusing but hardly ethical pastime."

The Rev. Dwight E. Norris, pastor of Catawba Nation Chapel here, said he received the letter last week and mailed 20 copies to friends along with the required $1 "contribution" to the name at the head of the list.

The Rev. Robert E. Robinson, pastor of the Lily Chapel United Methodist Church near London, said the "religious connotation" and wording of the letter persuaded him to respond.

One copy of the letter urged the reader to consider the $1 obligation "involvement in the ministry of another," adding: "What minister would not need $8,000 for a worthy project, and certainly any minister would be willing to contribute a dollar to the ministry of another man if this minister would bless his own."

The letter said the project has been receiving almost 100 per cent return with most participants getting about $7,800 back.

One minister who responded said he now realizes "it was a stupid thing to do," but the names of two college presidents at the head of the list had persuaded him to participate. He did not identify the college presidents.

The Rev. Gordon E. Tatman, pastor of the Wayne Street Methodist Church of St. Marys, said friends advised him his participation was "questionable" and he wrote letters to his 20 contacts urging them not to participate.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes said today he would hit the campaign trail around Sept. 20 on behalf of the Republican ticket in the Nov. 3 general election.

Rhodes said he would campaign for disowned candidates John D. Herbert for the attorney general, and State Sen. Robin T. Turner, for treasurer.

Assisting Rhodes in the dedication were Director Martin A. Janis of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, and Dr. Alan Zimmer, head of the Drug Abuse Division, which will operate the facility.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's first walk-in, neighborhood drug treatment center was dedicated today in ceremonies attended by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Assisting Rhodes in the dedication were Director Martin A. Janis of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction, and Dr. Alan Zimmer, head of the Drug Abuse Division, which will operate the facility.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The hill area of Jackson and neighboring counties was being searched today for a small plane with two persons aboard reported missing since Tuesday afternoon.

Authorities said the plane, reportedly en route from Greensboro, N.C., to Cleveland, was last heard from after it took off from Huntington, W. Va., at 3:15 p.m. The pilot radioed he was encountering difficulties from an oil leak.

At that time aviation officials pinpointed the plane's location as about 15 miles east of Jackson—that would be near Wilksville in Vinton County.

All are members of the board and will name chairmen of the divisions they head. It is expected that more than 200 volunteers will conduct the house-to-house campaign and possible that many more will take part in the solicitation in the division.

Organizations which will receive support for their programs from the Community Chest include Boy Scouts $6,000; Camp Fire Girls $4,200; Community Activities Fund $2,000; Girl Scouts $3,800; Mental Health Association $1,000; Senior Citizens Center $3,000; USO $9,000; and Y-teens clubs $400. These allocations total $38,400, and $1,600 is earmarked for expenses.

The goal last year was $39,000, but only $36,026 was raised.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's third-ranking Democrat said today the nation's colleges and universities should purge radical professors and students and then adopt policies to keep them out.

Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said in a statement to the President's Commission on Campus Unrest it is time college administrators "return to a policy of making our institutions of higher learning once again representative of mainstream America."

"It is high time that professors who distort the perspective of young minds, who advocate the overthrow of our system of government, who corrupt and pervert the educational process be purged from our educational institutions," Byrd's statement said.

He said admissions policies must be tightened "rather than further prostituting and debasing them. I am convinced that one of the major causes contributing to the disorder in our institutions is the presence in those institutions of many young people who have absolutely no business being there."

Byrd said the "so-called quota system for the admission of black students" is ill-conceived and unfortunate.

"The great flaw in the quota system is simply the fact that young men and women who cannot do college-level work are admitted—even recruited—with inevitably disruptive results."

Providing a college education for all is unrealistic, especially in liberal arts, he said, because it "fails to take into proper account the aptitudes, abilities

Stock List

Goes Lower

NEW YORK K(AP) — The earl-ly morning downturn led by the blue chips widened in scope this afternoon as stock market prices dropped lower across the board. Trading was active.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials at noon was off 7.67 at 765.47.

Declines and advances were running neck to neck on the Big Board, indicating that price erosion was becoming more widespread. Earlier, advances held a 2-to-1 lead over losers.

Analysts said the market was being dogged by profit taking and worries over strikes in the rail and auto industries. General uneasiness over the Middle East situation, with a rash of commando hijackings, also contributed to the downturn, analysts said.

At noon The Associated Press 60-stock average was off 1.2 at 253.8, with industrials off 1.7, rail off 0.9, and utilities off 0.2.

Stocks were generally lower in all categories except for aircraft and chemicals, which were up and electronics and metals, which were mixed.

A Flood Of Handguns

The United States is being flooded with "Saturday night specials." These are cheap, small caliber pistols being assembled or manufactured in this country to get around the legal ban on importing such guns. Their potential for harm makes this a matter that should be promptly dealt with by tightening up federal gun control regulations.

Anyone skeptical of that "potential for harm" had better take a look at Federal Bureau of Investigation figures on assaults and deaths involving handguns. The latest FBI crime statistics show that use of firearms in aggravated assaults was 133 per cent greater in 1969 than five years earlier. Over the same period, use of guns in murders rose by 80 per cent. In 1969, handguns were the weapons in 51 per cent of all murders in the United States.

There are no exact figures on the number of cheap handguns being produced for sale in the United States now. About a year ago a Department of Justice official told the Senate that figures supplied by the Internal Revenue Service showed an increase in one year — 1968 to 1969 — from 60,000 to 700,000. The estimate offered at that time was "that a million such handguns would be produced in this country in 1970."

This plainly amounts to a situation that should be attended to by Congress, since the intent of earlier gun legislation is in effect being flouted. No good can come from such widespread distribution of cheap but deadly pistols. At very least, they should be subject to sensible registration requirements.

Crime Can Be Combated

One early way the news media can fight crime is by persistently and continually reporting the rising crime statistics. So that society finally develops the indignation and determination to end the miserable toll.

So let it be reported, here once again, that robbery, including armed holdups, purse snatchings, and muggings, jumped fivefold between 1960 and 1968, in American cities with populations above the half-million mark.

And let it be noted that in Washington, D. C., there has been a sixfold increase in serious offenses since 1958, and a mammoth 15-fold increase in robberies, right there in the proud capital of a proud nation.

And let it be repeated, as J. Edgar Hoover put it recently, that this boost in violent crime is actually altering life patterns in the big cities — streets deserted at night, multiple locks on doors, businesses hobbled by a siege mentality.

Let it also be plainly but sadly stated that, due to migration northward in recent years, blacks now make up most of the crime-committing elements in the large cities, particularly school dropouts from poor areas, many of them on drugs.

But let it also be quickly said that the same crime — committers are particularly victimizing the black neighborhoods including the black middle-class and its black capitalism. The simple statistic is that a black man or woman in a big city has about two and a half times the chance of being robbed as does a white person. City crime is antiblack.

Some other crucial points can also be rounded up, as did Fortune magazine in a recent survey. For one thing, crimes of violence are committed mainly by a limited hard-core of repeaters — in Washington perhaps 300 persons or so.

For another thing, urban crime is rampant in the United States because this country deprives its criminal — and — justice system of funds and talent.

The United States actually spends two-thirds of 1 per cent of its GNP fighting crime — a smaller portion than does Britain or the Netherlands, more law-abiding lands.

To fight crime effectively, slums and poverty need eradication. That takes years. But many an immediate step can be taken. Such as: the speedup of court trials.

The preventive detention of dangerous suspects, as is done in Britain and the Netherlands. Vastly expanded treatment centers for drug users. More police on the beat, visibly so. Development of modern correctional systems.

These are the moves which, right now, can begin to diminish the crime which is laying siege to American metropolises.

Has The West Walked Into A Trap?

THESE DAYS....

By John Chamberlain

LUGANO, Switzerland: — Sen. William Fulbright is obviously a perplexing figure to Europeans. He discourses on "old myths and new realities" as if the problem of power had never existed. Then, looking at the Middle East in a moment of crisis, he suddenly wakes up to the fact that power is at stake for several nations.

There are the "great powers" — meaning the Soviet Union and the United States — which "have surrendered much of their own freedom of action to the bellicose whims of their respective clients." But the "clients" themselves have their own power problems, which are hardly "whimsical" in nature.

Both the Arabs and the Israelis want guarantees — and guarantees, if they are to be effective, demand sanctions and the most careful balancing of power. The disgruntled sale of Fayetteville, Ark., awakens from his provincial dream and advocates sanctions within sanctions, in a sort of double insurance policy for the "client" nations of the Middle East.

The U.N. is to guarantee a peace, but in case the U. N. should prove as futile in the future as it has in the past when the great powers have disagreed, the U. S. is to sign a bilateral security treaty with Israel, with the consent of the Senate.

ONE WOULD THINK that Sen. Fulbright's belated conversion to an acceptance of reality would please the Israelis. But Willy Brandt, the West German chancellor, has spoiled the party.

According to William S. Schlam, a Cold War veteran of many years standing who was foreign affairs adviser to Henry Luce of Time-Life during the years of World War II and who now lives in Lugano, the Communists must be licking their chops with satisfaction over the way things are going.

Sanctions are worthwhile as long as the power relations on which they are based do not change. An agreement of Israel, with the Soviet Mediterranean fleet at its present level of strength balanced by the U. S. Sixth Fleet, and with Israel getting higher flying planes to counter the Sam II and III missiles, would be acceptable, provided things remain the same on other fronts where the Communists face the West.

But Mr. Schlam, who is a profound observer of the German political scene, points out that the economic "kicker" in the new Russo-German understanding will make Moscow much more powerful all along the borders of the Old Iron Curtain in central Europe.

at Moscow's disposal, things could change rapidly within a few years. The Communists have, in effect, suddenly obtained access to the industry of the Ruhr and the Rhineland without firing a shot. And they have managed to do this with the passive acceptance of Richard Nixon.

The outrageous thing is that of many people in Washington know the dangers: Secretary of Defense Laird acted on an acute perception of reality when he vetoed the Ford Motor Co.'s proposition to give Russia a motor industry. As Mr. Schlam puts it, "Whatever has possessed Henry Kissinger to give his tacit approval to Brandt's political power play?"

TO RETURN to the question of sanctions for Israel. A Soviet power with a vastly increased mobile strength in Europe would be able to make demands on the NATO powers with relative immunity by the simple expedient of scaring the U. S. lest it be forced by an "incident" to abide by its promises to Israel in the Middle East.

A U. S. — Israel bilateral agreement would become a trap for a pacifist America. We would give in elsewhere in the world merely to avoid trouble in the Middle East.

Willy Brandt, by putting himself under Soviet obligation, may have assured his own political longevity in West Germany. However, he has not only ended World War II but also handed Russia a victory without compelling it to fight World War III.

Only a historic accident can now keep the Communists from becoming the protectors of both Western Europe and the Middle East.

Will they rule with a modicum of forbearance? Let the Hungarians and the Czechs give us their answer.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Should She Reveal Her Age?

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 50 and I am 66. Leonard looks his age, but thanks to good health, exercise and proper diet, I look younger than Leonard. We are still happy together after 30 years of marriage, and nobody knows my real age. (They assume I'm about Leonard's age.) Now my husband wants to reveal my real age in order to help his beloved nephew, who is 20 and wants to marry a 30-year-old woman. The family is strongly opposed to this marriage because of the woman's age, and they're telling him the marriage is doomed to failure. Leonard wants to point to our successful marriage to show them how wrong they can be. I do not wish to disclose my real age after 30 years. I would feel embarrassed and humiliated, especially before my 68-year-old mother-in-law who would suddenly learn that this devoted daughter-in-law was practically her own age.

I love our nephew and respect his lady friend who is a fine person, but I feel the cost to me for such a revelation would be too high. What do you think?

DAED

DEAR DAZED: Feeling as you do, stick to your guns. To reveal your true age at this stage of the game probably wouldn't help your nephew's cause anyway. The family would probably say, "You're the exception to the rule" — which it very well could be.

DEAR ABBY: My two sisters and one sister-in-law have eight kids among them, which is fine. I haven't any which is also fine, since that's the way my husband and I want it.

I've got a great marriage and do lots of things the other girls can't do because of their kids, such as volunteer work in a hospital.

The problem is, they keep trying to stick me with their kids. I've told them that in case of an emergency (I don't consider an appointment at the beauty shop an emergency) I would baby-sit for them gladly. Today one of the girls dragged her two youngest over here, knowing I was home and she asked me to watch them for an "hour." Her hours have turned into whole afternoons. It so happened I had plans of my own that day, and she was plenty put out when I turned her and her kids away.

I've suggested that the girls put their kids together, and take turns sitting for each other, but my suggestion fell on deaf ears. Their excuse, "Our kids don't get along with each other."

Abby, the girls read your column faithfully. Will you please inform them that some couples choose a childless lifestyle because they don't want to be tied down with children, and certainly not with somebody else's.

HARD-HEARTED HANNAH
DEAR HANNAH: You've put it very well. Now all you need is the continued toughness to stick with your lifestyle.

DEAR ABBY: This is in response to "NEAT," the man who shaved his chest and legs because he was tired of all those hairy ape jokes.

Tell him to keep his hairy chest and legs because that is what most women look for in men. I am a young lady and speak from experience. When a group of us girls get together and discuss men, one of the first things we mention is whether he's hairy or not. Just look around at the beach and you will notice that the most popular boys and men are the hairiest. I personally can't think of anything more romantic than running my toes through the hair on a man's chest!

Guide To Good Health

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

EGGS are my favorite food. I don't feel satisfied unless I eat at least four a day. Is there any weight-reducing diet that includes lots of eggs?

Mr. E. S. Texas
Dear Mr. S.: Everyone seems to want to lose weight, but is willing to give up remarkably little to achieve results.

This accounts for the fact that newspapers and magazines have "new diet of the month" fads which quickly gather enthusiasts for four days, and then settle down to the chronic porcess of failure.

You like to include your favorite eggs. Others hate to give up bread, or ice cream or the sandwich and beer at midnight.

If you want to eat as many eggs as you do, be sure that the sum total of calories you eat in the rest of your diet stays within the limit prescribed for you height and weight.

It is true that eggs by themselves are not particularly high in calories, but with bread, butter, bacon and jam you well be consuming your total daily caloric requirement at breakfast time.

Eggs present an additional problem which must be considered seriously. They can be responsible for high cholesterol levels in the blood. This is considered by many physicians to be an important factor in the narrowing of the blood vessels and in interfering with proper blood circulation.

After an operation, I developed neurasthenia. I am absolutely exhausted with the

How About Shoe Boutique?

By RAY KOHN
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Men's shoe stores where gals make the sales pitch, music skirls through the boutique and you can sip wine while resting your aching feet?

They exist.

One manufacturer started selling men's shoes and "all that jazz" (that, and rock, and soul is part of what comes out of the loudspeakers) in Beverly Hills, Calif., a year ago.

So far it's a success. They've installed outlets—with girls and wine—in New York and Denver. They've got a foot in the door in San Francisco, and plan a place in Chicago.

You walk into their Manhattan establishment on Lexington

Avenue and are greeted by a young lady attired in sweater, blue jeans and sandals.

"Mind if I look around?" "Of course not," the gal replies. She backs off a bit so you can browse among the sleek bluchers, buckled slip-ons and half-boots. Aaaaah, a male bulwark—a man sitting at a desk. He's the manager.

As you doubtless know, buckles and bows for gents are really "in" this season. I spot a buckle job which interests me. I give the girl, whose first name is Beverly, my size. She brings me a pair and hands them to me, along with an elongated shoe horn.

The usual foot-stand for trying on shoes just isn't there. I am wiggling my sock-clad toes on the plush rug while relaxing on a two-seater black leather sofa. Then I wield the shoe horn.

"Kind of a self-help idea?" I ask.

Beverly smiles. "We bring 'em out and you put 'em on."

While parading the rug, peering at the pristine footwear (burnished brown), my glance wanders toward two giant glass carafes.

On the ball, the saleslady asks, "Some red or white wine?"

I chose red and get a goblet of it.

Back to the sofa shod feet stretched out, sipping and thinking, thinking and sipping.

The music blares. It is raining outside. Inside, it is all kind of informal. Then I remember: I am a customer. I ease out of the footwear and ponder still sipping the wine. I drain the glass.

"Nice place you have here," I say. "But these aren't exactly what I had in mind."

"No sweat," says Beverly "drop in any time."

I leave the shop to meet the wet world of hurrying umbrellas, followed by the beat, from the boutique, of some groovy ballad completely alien to my "square" ears.

in an effort to extract trumps as quickly as possible, led the king of spades followed by a spade to the ace.

With East showing out on the second trump, declarer cashed the A-K of hearts, discarding a diamond, and continued with the seven of hearts from dummy. When East followed low, South made the excellent play of discarding his last diamond.

West won with the jack but was helpless. He had no way to put East on lead for a club return, and the outcome was that South made four spades on the button.

Actually, the defense muffed two opportunities to beat the contract. Had East played the queen of hearts when the seven was led from dummy, South would have gone down with proper defense thereafter—since he would have been unable to prevent the club ruff.

The defense could also have stopped the contract had West dropped his jack of hearts when the A-K were led from dummy. East could then have played his nine on the seven and South again would have found himself bucking a stone wall.

It is a moot point whether West was more at fault than East, but actually they were both guilty of contributory negligence. In any case, however, South must be awarded full credit for taking advantage of an opportunity to bring home the contract.

Carol Morrison, David Elliott Wed Sunday In Grace Church

Four seven-branch 1944 Lincoln Dr. candelabra, with emerald and jade leaves, and altar vases filled with purple-throated white gladiolas, white and lavender asters formed a setting with palms and white bow bows for the marriage Sunday of Carol Morrison and David Elliott in Grace United Methodist Church.

The Rev. John Armentrout performed the double-ring ceremony at 2:30 p.m., following a half-hour of organ music by Mrs. Gary Elliott, which included a selection employing the chimes, and vocal numbers by Bruce Allen.

Miss Burke To Wed Oct. 17

Mr. and Mrs. George Burke Jr., 9196 Columbus Rd., NE, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Jane, to Gary D. Keller, son of Mrs. Vivian Keller, 1045 Plum Ridge Dr., Columbus, and the late Leon C. Keller.

Miss Burke is a 1964 graduate of Miami Trace High School and is employed at Columbus Mutual Insurance Co., Columbus. Her fiancé, a graduate of New Lexington High School, attended Ohio University, Athens, before serving six years in the United States Navy. He is employed as a highway technician with the Ohio Department of Highways, Columbus.

The wedding is planned for Oct. 17 in the Madison Mills United Methodist Church with the Rev. Emory Moyer officiating.

Personals

Lt. Commdr. Dick Pensyl and Mrs. Pensyl and their children, Susan, Nancy and David are having a month's sojourn with Mrs. Clark Pensyl, en route from Port Hueneme, Calif., to Commdr. Pensyl's new assignment at Fairfax, Va. There he will be associated with the Naval Facilities Engineering Command Headquarters, working with the Seabees in Washington D. C. While waiting for their Fairfax home to be readied, Commdr. Pensyl's family will visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cross and Mrs. and Mrs. Marion Smith were among those attending the 31st Clark reunion held at Ohio Caverns, West Liberty, on Labor Day. A highlight of the day was celebration of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clark, of Springfield.

GAR Ladies Meet For Dessert Course

Ladies of the GAR met at Anderson's Restaurant for a dessert course, served on tables decorated with fall flowers. Fifteen members attended and participated in the business session conducted by Miss Florence Purcell, president.

Hostesses were Miss Florence Hidy and Mrs. Frances Toops. Miss Mazie Rowe will entertain the group for their October meeting.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with full dirndl skirt, high neckline and long bishop sleeves. Lace trimmed the bodice, sleeves and the long cathedral-length train. She wore a Juliet cap with lace and seed pearls on the silk illusion elbow-length veil. She carried a Bible belonging to her grandmother which her mother had carried also and a lace-linen handkerchief belonging to her great-grandmother, which the three generations have carried. A cascade bouquet of stephanotis and violets centered with a purple-throated cattleya orchid topped the Bible.

Maid of honor was Jody Morrison, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Cheryl Spayth, the bride's cousin, Kathy Perry, Peggy Hamman and Debbie Bennett. Laura Elliott was flower girl.

Miss Morrison's attendants wore gowns of lilac, blue, aqua and white printed blossoms, designed with full skirts, small Peter Pan collars on smocked bodices with bishop sleeves. Lilac velvet bands circled the waistlines and large white straw picture hats had lilac bands and streamers.

The maid of honor carried a white wicker garden basket of lavender daisies and asters and purple seafoam statice with purple velvet bows. The bridesmaids had nosegays of similar flowers and bows. The flower girl, who wore a long white dress with lavender trim, had a white wicker basket with lavender and purple ribbon and filled with rose petals.

Best man for Mr. Elliott was his brother, Robert, of Grove City, and ushers were Don Kirk, Robert Lentz, Bill Payton and Roger Storm.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Morrison wore a lavender and pink chiffon with draped neckline and pleated skirt. She had matching accessories and a lavender cattleya orchid corsage. Mrs. Elliott wore a pink chiffon with long waist and pleated skirt, matching accessories and a pink cymbidium orchid corsage. Mrs. Frank Reichelderfer, grandmother of the bride, wore a celery green silk and wool dress with matching jacket and her corsage was of white miniature carnations.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall at the church for 350 people immediately following the service. Hostesses were Debbie Noble, Connie Elliott, Cathy Peterson, Judy Lane, Jane Mootz, Connie Givens, Marilyn Roll and Connie Lykins.

The bridal table was edged with violets, green roping and lavender satin bows and daisies and greens encircled the punch bowls and five-tiered wedding cake, topped with a bridal couple.

A buffet supper followed the reception for approximately 75 relatives and friends in the Benton Room at Washington Inn. The new Mrs. Elliott is a graduate of Adena High School and will be a freshman in elementary education at Miami University, while her husband, who graduated from Washington High School will be a senior, studying political science at Miami.

After a short trip south, they will live at Miami Manor, in Oxford.

U.S. Giving More Medals To Soldiers In Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Medals for soldiers symbolize achievement, build morale, look good on a man's record and tell of heroism.

And soldiers in Vietnam have received more medals than GIs in Korea. In certain areas, U.S. soldiers in Southeast Asia have received more medals than were issued to troops in World War II.

There are plenty of reasons for the increases and the services feel the awards are richly deserved.

"There's no stated policy that awards should be given out more frequently," says Maj. Frederick Vollrath, who watches these things in the Army adjutant general's office.

But, in the case of the Army's bronze star, the fourth highest medal for heroism, the decoration also can be given for achievement.

A bronze star can be awarded to a rifleman who takes a bunker single-handedly or to a man who moves paper a bit more swiftly than the fellow at the next desk. The only distinction in appearance is a tiny "V" on the medal.

Further, in some units, division commanders can award a bronze star to everyone in a rifle company. This was standard procedure at one time in the First Air Cavalry Division in Vietnam.

As it is, the Army alone has given out in Vietnam 317,670 bronze stars in all, compared with 73,464 in Korea and 395,379

in World War II. The first and only medal in the Army for several decades

Top Brass Avoids Airlines Due To Rise In Hijackings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The armed forces, concerned over the growing number of airline hijackings, have urged top brass and other servicemen with knowledge of classified or sensitive information to avoid commercial flight and find other means of travel.

The Army, Navy and Air Force, in separate but similar directives, recently advised personnel to take trains, buses or other means of surface transportation if they are unable to catch military flights in areas where hijackings are possible.

"This could be almost anywhere by the way, these hijackings are occurring," said one Pentagon official.

The new directives surfaced in the wake of three hijackings and one unsuccessful attempt by Arab terrorists Sunday.

The Pentagon is reluctant to discuss the new rules for military personnel. But all Navy and Marine commands have been given special procedures for their personnel to follow if they can't avoid commercial flights. The other services have spelled out similar procedures.

A directive from the chief of naval operations advises wearing civilian clothes and the carrying of identification such as a civilian driver's license so sailors will not tip off their military status. Also, any classified documents are to be in sealed envelopes.

In the past, military officials on hijacked flights to Cuba were separated from civilian passengers, the directive noted. However, those officials in civilian clothes carrying civilian identification were permitted to remain with the other passengers.

There have been no reports of sealed envelopes being opened by the Cubans despite close inspection of the passengers' personal documents, according to the directive.

The only known instance of government documents stolen by the Cubans occurred when some papers were confiscated from the luggage of a U.S. marshal.

The instructions also warn military officers that attempts to destroy documents would serve only to call attention to themselves.

Court Approves 3rd Continuance In Weapons Case

A third continuance was granted 22-year-old Terry Ray Snyder, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville, in Municipal Court Tuesday. He is charged by the State Highway Patrol with carrying a concealed weapon in his car Aug. 17.

Snyder entered a not guilty plea before Judge Reed M. Winegardner Tuesday and asked for a later preliminary hearing date so that his Columbus attorney could be present. The matter was continued until 10:30 a.m. Sept. 16.

Patrolman William Shaffer filed the charge against Snyder after stopping his car for an exhaust system violation. Shaffer alleges that the .25 caliber automatic pistol was secreted beneath a floor mat under the dashboard.

Snyder is free under $2,500 bond pending the hearing. At an earlier Municipal Court session he forfeited bond on the traffic charge

Toledo Teachers Walk Out As Contract Talks Stall

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Toledo's 2,582 public school teachers struck early this morning after contract negotiations with the Board of Education broke down.

"The strike is on," declared Joseph Casella, a negotiator for the American Federation of Teachers, which set up pickets at 6 a.m. this morning.

"There will be a strike, not withstanding the dreams of Mr. Dick — otherwise known as Mr. Wonderful," said Casella.

He was referring to School Supt. Frank Dick, who vowed the schools would open on schedule despite the strike.

Negotiations were halted following two stormy sessions Tuesday in a local hotel. No further talks were scheduled.

Dick said the Toledo Federation of Teachers' negotiators rejected a proposal that the dispute be submitted to a labor-management citizens committee which had offered its assistance.

He said the TFT also turned down a board offer to make its records available for examination. The TFT has maintained the school district has sufficient funds available to provide larger wage increases than those offered.

Negotiations were resumed Tuesday after teachers voted at a meeting earlier in the day to strike the 60,000-pupil system unless school officials came up with a "satisfactory" contract offer before today's deadline.

The TFT was selected last spring as the teachers' bargaining agent. The rival Toledo Education Association, which claims to have more members, announced it would support a strike action, as did non-teaching personnel.

Dick said Tuesday police protection had been arranged for teachers and students wanting to report to the schools.

The board's latest contract offer reportedly would raise starting salaries from $7,000 to $7,200 over a two-year period. Salaries for those with master's degrees and 15 hours toward a doctorate would have gone from $10,200 to $13,000.

School officials say the increases would cost $890,000 in the first year. The TFT says the cost would be $432,227.

Teachers charged the raise would mean only $200 a year for most of them, while administrators would get about three times that much.

Dayton Voters Again Reiect 1.05 Mill Levy

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton voters turned down a 10.5-mill school levy again Tuesday, increasing chances that schools will be shut down from Thanksgiving until the end of the year.

The proposal was rejected 29,379 to 25,169. It was the third such levy to die at the polls since last December.

School officials said the levy will be put on the ballot again in November.

If classes are halted from the Thanksgiving vacation until New Year's Day, school will have to be extended until June 30 to make up for the lost time.

Officials say schools will be forced to close again in October 1971 if no additional funds are forthcoming.

CAB Examiner Denies Bid By Allegheny

WASHINGTON (AP) — Civil Aeronautics Board Examiner Louis Sorenson denied Tuesday an application by Allegheny Airlines to provide unrestricted nonstop service between Columbus, Ohio, and New York. The decision becomes official if no petition for review is filed within 10 days.

At the same time, Sorenson lifted restrictions currently imposed on American Airlines on the route. The airline has had authority to provide nonstop service between the two cities, but only on flights that serve at least one of seven specified cities.

The total area of India is about one half of the United States but there are three times as many people.

3 Persons Are Injured In Protest

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Two policemen and a spokesman for the Greater Cleveland Welfare Rights Organization were injured slightly Tuesday and charges of assault and battery were filed against three persons in a disturbance in the Cleveland Board of Education building.

Police said the incident occurred after a board of education meeting when members of the organization tried to clear the room of newsmen and camera equipment.

Newsman Dennis Buckel of radio station WHK filed a warrant charging WRO coordinator John Breckenridge with assault and battery.

Albert McFadden and Mrs. Joanne Abraham were charged with assault and battery on the police.

About 125 welfare mothers and their supporters had appeared before the board earlier Tuesday to demand immediate payment of a clothing allowance for some 50,000 welfare children in Cleveland.

Spokesmen for the welfare welfare organization said the money was available under funds recently approved by the U.S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare under Title 1 of the federal elementary and secondary education act. Cleveland schools receive more than $6 million of the funds.

Bar Press From Meet On Disorder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Joint Committee on Campus Disorders will throw out the General Assembly's own rules Thursday by barring the public and press from a meeting on whether to call a special session of the legislature.

House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess, a member of the committee, said the afternoon meeting in the House chambers will be closed.

A legislative source said the committee could circumvent the public meetings rules by operating as an adjunct of the Rules Committees, whose meetings are closed in both the House and Senate.

Kurfess referred questions about the meeting to the committee chairman, Rep. Robert Levitt, R-91 Canton. Levitt could not be reached for comment.

The committee could request a special legislative session if it decides new laws are needed to deal with the causes of campus disorders.

A bill that mandates the dismissal of university personnel and students taking part in campus disturbances was passed earlier this year and goes into effect Sept. 16.

Kurfess predicted the special session, if called, would last no more than two weeks, with one week devoted to hearings. "But I've been off on my estimates before," he added.

He said a special session also might deal with matters unrelated to campus disorders if Gov. James A. Rhodes chooses to suggest any.

Water Board Defeats Cleveland

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Water Pollution Control Board seems to have won its showdown with Cleveland over the board's authority to impose building freezes on cities that fail to meet state standards.

George H. Eagle, chief engineer in the Ohio Health Department, told the board Tuesday Cleveland apparently is complying with the building ban and has agreed to a meeting today with state engineers to discuss plans for pollution control.

Cleveland officials earlier had ignored the building ban, asserting the city was meeting pollution standards. The board sought legal action, and Cuyahoga County Common pleas ruled last week the city must comply with the freeze. G. A. Hall, the board's engineering secretary, said the meeting between city and state officials should be the first step in definite plans for control of pollution entering Lake Erie from the Cleveland area.

In other business, the board asked the attorney general to start court action against three cities for failing to obey anti-pollution orders.

The board said the Cleveland suburb of Broadview Heights is the only one in the area failing to contract for the Cuyahoga Valley Interceptor (CVI) sewer system. The suburb also has failed, the board said, to meet provisions of its sewage dumping permit to submit plans for pollution control.

Broadview Heights officials contend the CVI hookup could lead to higher taxes or sewer rates and say the community is working on plans for its own sewage treatment system.

Also to be the target of court action are West Leipsic in Putnam County and Avon in Lorain County.

West Leipsic was ordered to submit detailed plans for its own pollution control system or a hookup to nearby Leipsic. But officials contend their small community cannot afford a plant and the Leipsic facility is too small to handle any more sewage.

Avon also had been ordered to prepare plans for a sewage system or arrange to join another one. Avon officials told the board voters have rejected bond issues for the system five times and that proposals to join the planned French Creek Council of Government's interceptor and treatment plant were not feasible.

The Wilkoff Co. of Youngstown, whose permit will be reviewed Dec. 8, was ordered to stop discharging acid into state waters. The board also ordered the steel company to submit plans for a concrete tank to surround its steel pickling operation to stop leakage of acids.

A one-year permit approved at the board's last meeting for the Collins Mining Co. mine in Lawrence County was reduced to four months. The mine is owned by Sen. Oakley Collins, R-18, Ironton.

Miami Trace Levy Proposed

able to complete the 1971-72 school year, Waddle said.

Income from the proposed 1.3 mill levy will be about $92,997.47 annually.

The board considered and then rejected a motion for a one mill levy.

The final resolution passed by four votes to one, with Dwight Duff opposing the measure. However he said that he would vote for the issue at the polls.

MAKING the decision on the operating levy more difficult for board members Tuesday were the two other school issues already on the November ballot.

The district is seeking support for a 3.3 mill middle school bond issue and a 2.3 mill tax issue for construction of a South Central joint vocational school.

Board members were pessimistic Tuesday about the passage of all three issues.

Prior to voting on the new levy, Foster had explained that no request for a new levy had been made prior to the Budget Commission action, because it had been hoped that revaluation would offset the district's anticipated deficit.

IN OTHER action Tuesday, the board approved a driver education course, repairs at Staunton school, prices for admission to the football and basketball games and reviewed a report on the school guidance program.

The board approved the recommendation of the Athletic Association on the cost of tickets.

The new prices are: student presale, 50 cents; adult general admission, $1.50; student general admission, $1; single game reserve, $2; football season reserve seat ticket, $7; and basketball season reserve seat ticket, $12.

The Athletic Association also informed the board that it would pay $20 per football player for insurance during the year. The students will have to pay the remaining $11.

AT STAUNTON school, a former coal bin will be remodeled into a classroom for Title I reading classes.

The reading classes had been taught in the cafeteria and hall. Remodeling of the room, now used for storage, will cost about $2,000, according to an estimate presented to the board. Cost of the remodeling will be paid out of Title I funds.

Driver education courses will be offered after school hours this year.

Cost of the course will be $5 to each student. The state reimburses the district $30 per student to meet the cost of the instruction and equipment.

AN EVALUATION of the school guidance program was presented to the board by Curtis Fleisher, principal, and Mrs. Margaret Dowler, counselor.

Time, space and the need for more vocational guidance were seen by the speakers as the prime needs of the program.

Most students meet with the guidance counselor a minimum of once in their senior year. The problem is that there is not enough time for the counselors. The addition of another full-time counselor was recommended.

Space also has become a problem in the program. The counselors' office is with the administrative offices of the high school, and requires crowding students into one area while they wait for their meetings, according to Mrs. Dowler. More space for records also is necessary.

VOCATIONAL guidance, particularly for non-college bound students was stressed by Fleisher and Mrs. Dowler as a growing need at the school.

A new teacher, William Walden, of Crooksville, was employed by the board to teach physics at the high school plus seventh and eighth grade math at Jeffersonville school. Walden is a graduate of Ohio State University and has taught two years.

The audit of the school activities fund was approved. The fund now holds $13,792.

Six buses will be used to carry the football team, band and equipment to games this year. The board approved use of four of the buses to carry the 147-member band, and two of the buses for the team and equipment.

Additional names added to the list of substitute teachers were Mrs. Kay Black, New Holland; Mrs. Bernice Jones, Rt. 1, Jeffersonville; and Mrs. Julie Smith, Rt. 4.

Set Hearing In Kidnaping

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A hearing has been set for Sept. 17 for a New York man and woman charged with armed robbery and kidnaping in connection with abduction of two persons during a service station holdup.

Gerard Bleicki, 35, and Mrs. Barbara Ann Kockerkevich, 28, pleaded innocent when arraigned Tuesday in Rocky River Municipal Court. Bond for Bleicki was set at $50,000 and bond for Mrs. Kockerkevich was set at $20,000. Both are from Nassau County, N.Y.

Police said Ronald E. Carse, 20, of Lakewood, an attendant at a Rocky River service station, and Mark D. Carlson, 15, of Bay Village, a customer at the station, were abducted by the couple. Police said the pair stopped at the station to ask directions and then took $89.

Carse and Carlson told police they were left bound and gagged in a Bellvue motel.

Police charged that the man and woman also abducted George J. Schrader of Clyde, about 70 miles west of Cleveland, Monday morning.

Schrader told police he fled by jumping from the car in Tiffin.

The couple was arrested Monday as they walked along the Sandusky River in Tiffin.

By LINDA RUBEY
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the riskier occupations on Wall Street these days is that of the profit-taker.

Simply put, the profit-taker is the short-term trader. He's the one who buys a stock one day and sells it right away or as soon as the stock has gone up enough for him to cash in at a profit.

The job takes patience, a strong set of nerves and a sense of adventure.

"They're in it for the excitement, not for the long pull. It's like betting at a lot of $2 windows rather than at the $50 window," says one long-time Wall Street observer.

The profit-taker is an elusive creature. But some brokers and analysts credit him with quite a punch. Over the past weeks some brokers were saying it was the profit-takers who were keeping the closely watched Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks from rallying much beyond the 760 level. Before that they maintained it was the profit-takers who kept the market from penetrating the 740 level after the Dow had made some sweeping advances.

Analysts say the profit-takers are generally professional board room traders with seats on the exchanges who trade for their own accounts. These include some fast-pace mutual funds.

They say if the public is involved to any extent, it's probably retired people who have the time to follow the intricacies of the market's activities continuously.

According to Newton Zinder, an analyst with E. F. Hutton, the profit-taker is willing to accept a 10 per cent profit and equally willing to accept a loss to maintain a flexible cash position.

"They're just trying to get the cream of a stock's gain rather than the whole bottle. They don't worry about the first or last 20 per cent of a gain, and so they usually don't buy a stock until after an upward move has started," Zinder explains.

The reverse is also true. A profit-taker doesn't need a rising, or bull, market to make money. He can also ride the waves of a falling, or bear, market like the one of the past two years and do just as well, analysts say.

The technique is called short selling. Selling short refers to the practice of borrowing stock and selling it immediately.

The seller hopes then the value of the stock will decline so he can buy it back later at a lower price and replace it.

Army Seeks Cause Of Near-Riot In Germany

By HUBERT J. ERB
Associated Press Writer
BERLIN (AP) — In August the sound and fury of racial confrontation rolled over the U.S. Army's McNair barracks in West Berlin with the suddenness of a summer thunder clap.

Alarmed commanders were left with the task of reconstructing what happened and why.

The Berlin echo reached all the way to Washington. Along with news of a near riot involving U.S. troops at Schweinfurt in West Germany, the black-white confrontation at McNair was instrumental in spurring the creation of an interracial fact-finding team, including White House aides, that is coming to Europe this week.

The ingredients that led white and black soldiers to fight in Berlin were basic and familiar to scenes of racial tension across the United States.

The spark that set off the initial incident came when a white soldier called a black soldier "nigger." A white GI was hit. The fight escalated.

Five men were arrested. Eight were treated at a hospital, including one military policeman. Evidently as many as 25 men suffered injuries of some sort.

"If you could figure out why this thing happened," a McNair-base officer declared, "then you could do something about it. But when that thing got going, it was not a case of unit pride or even racial pride. All you had was hate."

The Berlin Brigade has been remarkably free of outbursts of racial unrest plaguing other Army units based across Germany. That it now has happened in Berlin, too, underlines far-reaching racial sensitivity.

Maj. Gen. George M. Seignious II, the Berlin commander, says firmly, "This situation is endemic to our whole society, not just the Army."

Seignious and other senior commanders feel that the Army, the Berlin Brigade, the entire service, sometimes are blamed for a situation born largely out of civilian circumstances.

In an interview, however, Seignious emphasized that regardless of the original cause, the Army's leadership must bridge a racial gap wherever it finds one.

Seignious and other top commanders emphasize that junior officers and sergeants must get through to the individual soldier because they are closest to him.

Seignious sees the biggest obstacle to this as the Army's turnover of almost 100 per cent each year.

Seignious finds it significant that those involved in the McNair fighting were for the most part recent arrivals, men the brigade had not yet established real contact with.

The Army in Europe—and the Army generally—says it helped pioneer integration among Americans. Seignious and others declare there is no discrimination in housing, schooling, job assignments, food or anything else that affects a soldier's daily life.

Black soldiers say this is not always so.

They claim discrimination in such things as promotions, "even if it is hard to prove."

The blacks go farther afield in their criticism, saying that the "officers do not listen to us," that the name-calling was just a public expression of what a lot of whites really think and that "a black man has to be better than a white man if he wants to get a job or promotion for which both are qualified."

Part of the complaints by black soldiers are supported by some officers. One white officer said: "It's the little things that bug them. For example they say when four or five whitewalls stand around and talk no one thinks anything of it. But when four or five blacks, wearing black berets or Afro-style hair-cuts are seen together, people ask immediately 'What are they up to?'"

The blacks resent this."

A black veteran said the Army is compounding its handling of the racial problem by being lax in discipline for such things as smoking marijuana by both blacks and whites.

"A guy smokes pot," the soldier said, "and nothing is done about it. Another guy does something else and gets zapped. He has a right to ask, why me and not him?"

Seignious replies to this: "I do not think the use of marijuana—or alcohol—are root causes of our problem. They are manifestations of it..."

It is estimated that one in eight of the 185,000 American soldiers in Europe is black.

The Army says it is concentrating on a great many things seeking to respond to the black man's expressions of pride in himself. Such symbolic gestures as the clinched-fist salute, Afro hair styles and black berets off-

duty are tolerated

Gen. James H. Polk, four-star commander of the U.S. Army Europe, declared:

"Fairness is the watchword and I mean it... fairness in every aspect of our military community..."

Polk described commanders' obligation to achieve this as not only professional but moral. The general admits that in some cases fundamentals of equal treatment have not been applied, bringing racial tension.

Two of President Nixon's advisers on minority affairs, Leonard Garment and Robert J. Brown, are in a group of White House and Department of Defense men who are to spend three weeks visiting American camps and bases in Germany, England, Spain and Italy.

Bonn Pushes Aircraft Industry

By PETER RUHAK
Associated Press Writer
BONN, Germany (AP) — The government plans to pump nearly 12 billion marks or $3.2 billion into the aircraft and space industry over the next five years to help overcome West Germany's virtual stagnation in the field since the end of World War II.

The main thrust of the program, outlined in a report to parliament, is support for three aircraft projects being developed with other countries.

The projects are a multirole combat aircraft, which is a fighter plane for the late 1970s being developed with Britain and Italy; the French-German A300B airbus, and the VFW614, a 40-passenger short-range aircraft with Dutch and British cooperation.

The largest part of the financial commitment for the 1970-74 period, about $2.5 billion, has been earmarked for military projects, mainly the fighter.

This plane, still on the drawing board, is expected to put into practical use the German industry's research on short take offs and landings. It is to replace in the late 1970s the American-designed F104 Starfighter and the Italian-designed Fiat G91, now basic equipment of the German air force.

Assembly of those two planes under license has been the staple of the aircraft industry, which employs 50,000.

The airbus is to be a short- and medium-range plane carrying 250-300 passengers. Its prototype is to fly in 1972, and it will go into service in 1974.

One of its American competitors, the McDonnell Douglas DC10, has already flown. Another, the Lockheed L1011, is close behind.

The government has been unable to get a firm commitment from the national airline Lufthansa said it could not decide on a plane due to fly in the mid-1970s but that it would give "benevolent consideration" if the plane equals its competitors in technology and economy.

The VFW614, to be built with more than 80 per cent German participation, is to be in service by 1973. It is the European project with the largest German participation since the end of the war and its development is based on a 1967 market study that predicted demand for such a plane for short routes.

In space, the report foresees continuation of participation in projects with other West European countries. It also pledges support to the development of an experimental communications satellite with France—the Symphonie—for a sun probe with the United States, called the Helios. Both are at an early stage.

Mark Represents Investment Firm

Tom Mark, of Mark & Mustine Real Estate, 211 E. Market Street, is the new local representative for investors Security Co., a Columbus-based real estate investment firm.

The real estate investment trust is one of the newest concepts in real estate investing, according to Mark. Some of the advantages offered to investors in real estate, are the opportunity to obtain protection against inflation, plus the opportunity for tax-free returns and diversification, Mark said.

Mark has been in the real estate business in Washington C. H. since 1949, having joined with Charles W. Mustine in the Mark & Mustine partnership in 1959. They moved to their present office in September.

According to Mark, investors Security is presently offering shares in a real estate investment trust.

Red Cross Starts 'Shopping' For Vietnam Holiday Gifts

Christmas shopping for American men and women in military service in Vietnam is getting under way early here by the Red Cross chapter.

For the fourth successive year, "Santa's Helpers" will join those in some 1,600 other communities in a program to send gift-filled bags to every American service man and woman in Vietnam during the holidays. Mrs. Leonard Korn, chapter executive secretary, said.

She explained that the Red Cross is counting on other service organizations, religious groups, business firms and individuals to help fill the brightly colored drawstring bags with gifts from the recommended list.

The bags will be made, as they were in the past, by several local women's groups.

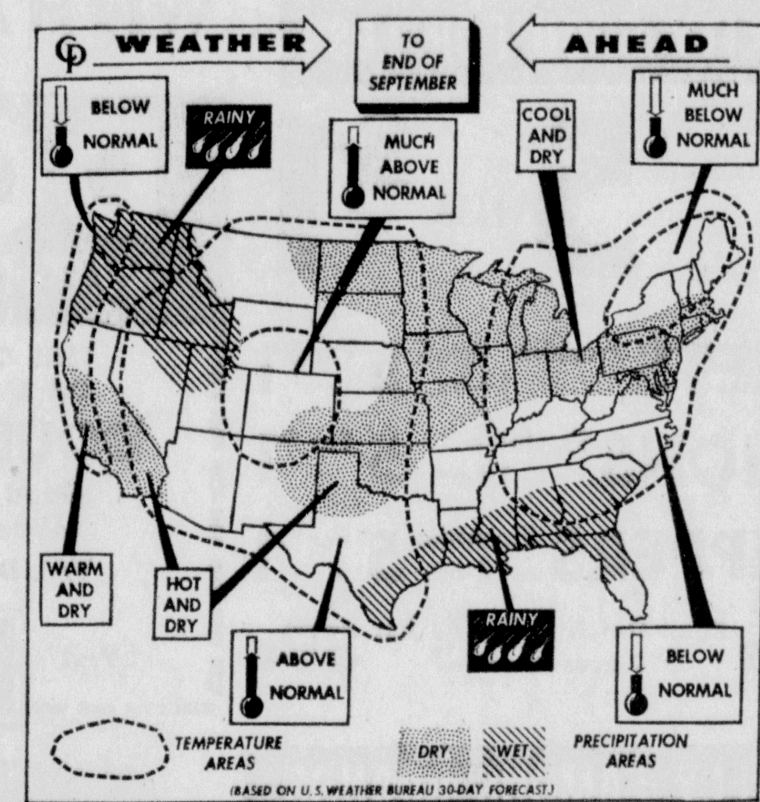

THE FAYETTE County Red Cross chapter has been asked to provide 200 bags of gifts again this year. Last year many community groups participated in the project.

THE DEADLINE for shipping the bags to Vietnam is Sept. 30; that is the reason for shopping early.

Recommended gifts include: pre-sweetened Koolaid; ball-point pens; pen-size flashlights; and batteries; small pen knives; non-perfumed soap in plastic cases; small packages of writing paper and self-seal envelopes; small address books; tooth brushes in plastic holders; terry cloth wash cloths (not white or red); nail nippers; plastic cigarette cases; small tins of candy or nuts; small plastic snapshot holders;

Small plastic bags in assorted sizes; wipe-shine black shoe polish packets; pocket games (playing cards, chess, pinochle etc.); wash and dry packages; white cotton socks; stainless steel mirrors; dental floss; small cans of shoestring potatoes; bubble gum in plastic bags and shampoo in plastic containers.

The Red Cross also listed some gifts which should not be sent: gifts in breakable containers; food in non-vacuum container; medicants (foot powder, insect repellent etc.);

Lucas-led Panthers To Debut Friday

MT To Be Tested By Tough Northeastern

By KIRK ARNOTT

Record-Herald Sports Writer

Miami Trace's Panthers head into their 10th season of interscholastic football Friday night at Springfield Northeastern with a new coach, a new system and a clean slate they hope to soil only with the mud and blood of victories. Hoping to rebound from a disastrous 2-8 showing last season, the Panthers will definitely be an improved team.

Roy Lucas, leader of a football power at Erlanger, Ky. the past few years, has taken on the challenge of giving Miami Trace a successful football program and he just may pull it off. Lucas has installed new offenses and defenses and brought efficiency and organization to the Panthers.

As they head for their first full-scale test, after splitting two pre-season scrimmages, the Panthers have some health problems. All the enthusiasm and eagerness for the first game can't stop the old flu bug, and it has stung a number of would-be starters.

However, most of those players who have been sick are expected to play Friday against a speedy Northeastern team.

Lucas, who has indicated his plans to throw the ball a good deal this year, has been impressed with progress made by his charges in several areas during the grueling pre-season practices. While reluctant to make any promises or predictions, he said that the offensive line is the most improved part of the team since the beginning of practice.

The line, long a Panther weakness, has been doing a fine job this summer, especially on pass protection. The blocking on running plays has been there, too, although some backfield timing difficulties have nearly obscured it.

PASS DEFENSE is another area that has shown a great deal of improvement according to Lucas.

Jeff Blake, a capable runner and passer, will pilot the team at quarterback as the Panthers run from variations of the I-formation.

Rounding out the offensive backfield will be fullback Tony Grooms, a sophomore, flanker, Jack Reno and Glen Gifford at tailback. Dave Gray will also see a lot of action carrying the ball from the tailback spot.

Jeff Spears, another sophomore, is set at split end while Jay Waddle is to be the tight end. Waddle has a bruised knee muscle that has been bothering him, and he may be replaced by Bill Greene Friday.

Dave Weade will be the center for the Panthers, with Mike Morrow and Bill Evans ticketed for action at guards. Evans is also nursing an injured knee and could be spelled by Kelly Bowen. Tackles will be Ray Jackson and Don Zurfue or Steve Warnock. Zurfue has been under the weather this week.

Defensively, tackles Warnock and Jackson have been very pleasing to the coaching staff. They appear to be the anchormen for the defense.

At ends, Greene and Zurfue are likely starters.

The inside linebacking posts will be manned by Morrow and Evans or Weade, again depending a lot on Evans' knee.

LABELLED "HEROES" in the Panther terminology because "you've got to be one to play that position", the outside linebackers are saddled with several responsibilities. Holding down those positions will be Grooms and Bowen or Waddle.

Defensive halfbacks will be Reno and Spears or Gifford, with Blake the safetyman.

Depth is definitely something the Panthers don't have, and injuries must be avoided. With the offensive and defensive starting units composed of almost the same group of people, the Panthers can count on being taxed physically.

Northeastern, a team that humbled the Panthers 53-8 last year, has another potentially strong unit that should do a lot of sweeping. The Jets will surely be able to give the Panthers and their new look a severe test.

F & G Ox Roast Successful

Over 125 families consumed some 150 pounds of pit roasted beef Labor Day at the Fayette Fish and Game Association Ox Roast, according to Ron Burns, president of the association.

There was something for everyone at the Ox Roast, and plenty of men, women and children showed up to take advantage. Trapshooting and horseshoe throwing were among the day-long activities.

Bev Lininger chaired the committee in charge of the holiday affair, and it also included Ed Reeves, Carl Wilt and Karl Kellenberger.

The Fish and Game Association will hold its regular meeting Thursday at 8 p.m. at the lodge, with regular business and refreshments on schedule.

Burns announces that there will be a work day Sunday Sept. 19 at the lodge. He advises that the lodge is in need of some work before winter months and asks members to bring towels to work cement. Work will get under way at 9 a.m. The work day was originally set for Sept. 12, but was changed because that is the second day of squirrel season.

Burns also said that it has been decided to hold rifle matches the fourth Sunday of each month.

Cincy Bengals Add Plays For Detroit

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals, preparing for their final exhibition game Saturday before opening the regular 14-game season began installing more plays Tuesday thanks to a vastly improved offense, Paul Brown, coach and general manager said.

"I think we're close to giving it a whirl," said Brown, looking forward to the regular season. The Bengals play the Detroit Lions here Saturday night, a team noted for tough defense, according to Brown.

In the five game exhibition season thus far, the Bengals have scored 11 touchdowns, but only six of them by the offensive unit.

"Well, we had a lot to overcome for a while," said Brown. "Remember, we lost Greg Cook, a real blow, particularly since we had our plans built around him. With him ready to play I think we would be ready for some pretty big games."

Brown said he was pleased with the progress of the offensive unit following the 10-10 tie at Milwaukee with the Green Bay Packers last Saturday.

"We're coming along a lot better and getting off the ball quicker," said Pat Matson, guard.

"We've got more plays too, inside, outside play-action stuff, plus the passing game. It helps keep them off balance."

Matson noted that the Packers only got to the Bengal quarterback once "so the added plays are helping us."

"In the St. Louis game (a 41-20 loss), about all we had was passes, so they could put pressure on us almost every play."

Reds Come Bouncing Back, Stop San Francisco, 5-2

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Among the characteristics of the Cincinnati Reds, the winningest team in baseball with 91 victories, is the ability to bounce back from adversity.

The Reds lost a Monday doubleheader to the San Francisco Giants and the services of ace southpaw Jim Merritt in the first inning of Tuesday night's game, yet stormed back for a 5-2 triumph.

"That's been our story all year," says manager Sparky Anderson. "If you've followed us, you'd see we've prolonged long slumps and that there's always somebody to pick us up."

Tuesday's heroes were Bob Tolan, Ray Washburn and Wayne Granger. Tolan cracked a three-run double in the second inning and Washburn and Granger were brilliant in relief.

"Tolan is the most underrated player in the National League," Anderson declares. "Just look at his statistics, yet he receives very little recognition."

"Bobby leads the league with 51 stolen bases, hits with power (29 doubles and 15 homers), has 70 runs batted in and has been around .325 all season—he has to be in the MVP race," the skipper says.

Anderson was plenty worried when Merritt left the game after pitching to five batters in the Giants' one-run, first-inning rally. The 20-game winner suffered a strained left elbow.

"I was concerned at first," Anderson admits, "but Jim is all right. He'll pitch Tuesday in Houston and Wayne Simpson will be back Sunday in San Diego. We'll have all our pitchers by the end of the month."

Washburn, 3-4, allowed only one run in seven innings of relief before Granger took over and worked out of a bases-loaded, eighth-inning jam by striking out pinch-batter Willie Mays on three pitches enroute to his 32nd save.

"That was one of Washburn's two best games this season," adds Anderson, who'll send rookie Milt Wilcox, 1-0, against the Dodgers in Los Angeles tonight. The Giants began a two-game series with the Houston Astros this afternoon.

"We had our chances," says Giants' manager Charlie Fox, "but they took them out of our hands." The win enabled Cincinnati to earn a 9-9 season stand-off with the Giants in the final game between the clubs.

7 Players To Be Cut

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Seven players were to be cut from the Cleveland Browns today to put the roster at the maximum of 44, leaving the squad four over the regular season limit.

The Browns had to take steps to cut the squad Monday, but had until 4 p.m. today to recall a player on waivers and substitute him with another player.

The Browns announced Tuesday the trade of defensive tackle Marvin Upshaw to the Kansas City Chiefs for a high 1971 draft choice.

Upshaw, the club's first round draft choice in 1968, started training this year as the heir apparent to retired Monte Clark in the defensive line.

Joe Kapp Still Missing As Vikings Hold Gold Line

By KEN RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer

The music goes on and on between Joe Kapp and the Minnesota Vikings.

Kapp still is looking for the silver lining . . . and the Vikings continue to make their gold line stand.

"No developments" is the reported situation in Kapp's prolonged contract dispute with the club.

"I haven't had one word, direct or indirect, since the Vikings' general manager, Jim Finks, sent his ultimatum telegram six or eight weeks ago," said Kapp's attorney, John Elliott Cook.

Kapp, 33, whose quarterbacking led Minnesota to the National Football League championship in 1969, reportedly has been asking for a $1.25 million contract over five years. But the Vikings have steadfastly refused his demands.

Kapp played out his option last year and is free to deal with any pro team. Cook confirmed Tuesday that Kapp has been in Vancouver, B.C., but said the trip had no significance. Kapp formerly played in the Canadian Football League.

"At present, Joe is sort of gypsying around, sometimes in Vancouver, sometimes in Los Angeles, sometimes in Lake Tahoe. Nev. There's not a great deal to occupy him at the moment."

Cook said he would meet soon in San Francisco with the free-wheeling quarterback, but declined elaboration.

Elsewhere in football, the Buffalo Bills placed quarterback James Harris on waivers and the 6-foot-4 signal caller apparently decided he was through as a professional.

Harris, a Grambling product, failed to show up for the Bills' regular practice Tuesday. He had been counted on to take over for Jack Kemp, who quit football to run for Congress.

The Green Bay Packers traded Francis Winkler, a three-year offensive lineman, to the Atlanta Falcons for Ken Mendenhall, a rookie center.

Cleveland swapped defensive tackle Marvin Upshaw to Kansas City for an undisclosed high draft choice.

Running back Les Josephson of Los Angeles suffered a broken jaw in practice Tuesday and will be sidelined indefinitely.

Local Players Help Greenfield Team

GREENFIELD — Three Fayette Countians were instrumental in Greenfield Penn Trucking's runnerup finish in the Elks Tri-State fast-bid softball tournament held at Huntington, W. Va. over the weekend.

Ken Robinette was 3-1 on the mound for Penn and Jack Anders and Glen Smith came up with some important hits. Smith's fielding was also a big plus.

Huntington Elks won the journey with a 6-3 win over Penn in the finals.

Syracuse, Jets In IL Playoffs

It's Syracuse against Columbus in the International League playoff finals.

The Jets scored five runs in the final two innings Tuesday night to gain a 5-4 victory over Rochester and take the semi-final playoff series from the Red Wings, three games to two.

The Jets had just three hits off Rochester starter Dick Baney through seven innings. But a leadoff homer by Ron Davis led to a two-run eighth, and three runs in the ninth wrapped up the win.

Gene's Hilife Wins Scioto Feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gene's Hilife came from third in the stretch to win the $1,500 race by 2 1/4 lengths Tuesday night at Scioto Downs and paid $18.40, $7 and $3.70.

Miss Flying M. returned $6.40 and $5 and show horse Wingate Jill was worth $3.

The 2-4 day double combination returned $21.80 and the 3-5 quinella paid $42.60.

A crowd of 3,068 wagered $156,748.

Boog Powell Drove In Three Runs With Two-Run Homer And Single And Frank Robinson Slugged A Homer In The Orioles' Triumph, Sending Mickey Lolich To His 17th Defeat. The Left-Hander Has Won 12.

The Royals backed him with a 17-hit attack, including four hits apiece for Bob Oliver and Lou Piniella as the Angels fell to their fifth straight loss.

In other American League contests, Baltimore topped Detroit 6-3, Milwaukee edged Minnesota 3-2, New York tripped Washington 7-3 and Boston nipped Cleveland 4-3. The Oakland A's and Chicago White Sox were idle.

Boog Powell drove in three runs with a two-run homer and single and Frank Robinson slugged a homer in the Orioles' triumph, sending Mickey Lolich to his 17th defeat. The left-hander has won 12.

Carlton Doubled And Scored The Cards' Go-Ahead Run In The Seventh And Then Singled Home An Insurance Run In The Ninth. Rich Allen Homered For St. Louis While Jeron Johnson And

and Ron Santo, who drove in two. Joe Pepitone had a two-run triple and the Cubs also took advantage of 10 bases on balls issued by Pittsburgh pitchers.

The Pirates have dropped nine of the last 14 while Chicago has soared into contention by winning eight of the last 11.

Steve Carlton pitched a four-hitter and contributed two timely hits to St. Louis' attack as the Cardinals hung on to third place in the East by whipping Philadelphia.

Carlton doubled and scored the Cards' go-ahead run in the seventh and then singled home an insurance run in the ninth. Rich Allen homered for St. Louis while Jeron Johnson and Joe Lis connected for the Philies.

Doug Rader and Bob Watson drove in three runs apiece as Houston hung on to beat San Diego. Rader had two singles and his 21st homer and Watson ripped two singles.

Nate Colbert and Clarence Gaston on each tagged two-run homers for the Padres.

Bobby Tolan's bases-loaded double drove in three runs in the second inning, leading the Reds past the Dodgers.

Ray Washburn picked up the victory with seven innings of sharp relief after taking over for Jim Merritt, who strained his pitching elbow in the first inning. Merritt is not expected to miss a pitching turn.

Tim Warner Wins Atomic Feature

CHILLICOTHE — Tim Warner of Washington C. H. became the eighth different winner for the season in his division at Atomic Speedway Monday night when he ran away with the hobby stocks special.

Warner, whose third place in the Memorial Championship was his best previous showing, moved from his sixth starting position to take the lead on the fifth lap. The race was stopped only one time when Larry Clark, the leader until Warner took over, spun around on the track.

Warner was the only repeat winner of the night on the seven-event program in taking the conso also.

Jim West of Chillicothe and Jim Steel and Paul Cohan of Jackson won the heat races, and Bill Jones and Don Stump the semi events.

Oakland Raiders Look Good; May Face Chiefs Again

By ERIC PREWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer
OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Raiders begin life as a National Football League team with everything but a Super Bowl trophy to prove they were the best team in the American Football League's last days.

In the last three AFL seasons, the Raiders were 34-4-1. Last year's 12-1 record was the best in pro football.

But the 1969 Raiders won the

wrong two games with the Kansas City Chiefs, bowing 17-7 in the third and last game and sending the Chiefs on to Super Bowl glory.

Coach John Madden's team should again battle Kansas City for a divisional title. The two teams, along with Denver and San Diego, make up the Western Division of the American Conference.

The 34-year-old coach, in his second season, has a veteran line-up returning.

Quarterback Daryle Lamoni- ca, the AFL's Most Valuable Player last year, has thrown 29 touchdown passes and gained almost 10,000 yards passing in his three seasons with the team. Lamoni completed 101 passes last year to wide receivers Fred Biletnikoff and Warren Wells for an average of 20 yards per completion.

The veteran line, with such standouts as guard Gene Upshaw and Center Jim Otto, provided great passing protection. Charlie Smith, the lead rusher last year with 600 yards, and Hewitt Dixon figure to start again as running backs. But Dixon has been bothered by leg injuries, and the fullback spot may have to be filled by Pete Banaszak or Marv Hubbard.

On defense, the only 1969 starter missing is outside line-backer Chip Oliver, who gave up football to join a hippie commune.

Bill Laskey, a part-time starter last season, has moved into Oliver's spot. Gus Otto is a six-year starter at the other outside position.

Dan Connors, the regular middle linebacker, broke his right arm Sunday and will be sidelined at least six weeks.

The defensive front four of Ben Davidson, Tom Keating, Art Thomas and Carleton Oats led a pass rush that spilled opposing quarterbacks 47 times last season.

Safety Dave Grayson and cornerback Willie Brown were All-League players. Nemiah Wilson and George Atkinson were the other starters in the defensive backfield.

George Blanda, at 42, may lose the No. 2 quarterback job to rookie Ken Stabler but is expected to continue as the team's place kicker. Mike Fischeid is in his fifth season as the punter.

Trojans Offensively Strong In Far West

By JACK STEVENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
A year ago, Southern California's Trojans beat Stanford by two points and UCLA by two points and the sum of four points over their toughest Pacific-8 rivals put USC into the Rose Bowl a fourth straight time.

For 1970, the Trojans have their backfield returning intact, some other fine offensive performers and a defense which had to be rebuilt around Charlie Weaver and Tody Smith, the returnees from the "Wild Bunch" front line which made life miserable for opposing quarterbacks.

Now they go into a season many believe will be the year of the quarterback all around. USC has Jimmy Jones, UCLA has Dennis Dummit and Stanford has Jim Plunkett, the second team All American selection of 1969.

Jerry Frei, the coach at Oregon, observed, "It looks as if everybody is going to have a great offense. There are more quarterbacks and running backs returning than I've seen in a while. But, the championship could wind up going to the team with the best defense."

Coach John McKay of USC cuts the line a little finer, saying, "If you don't play pass defense, you're going to get beat."

What's true in the Pacific-8 also is true in the Western Athletic Conference.

Arizona State, 3-2 in 1969, has its quarterback, Joe Spagnola, returning. Arizona has Brian Linstrom who set conference sophomore total offense and passing records last year. Wyoming has Gary Fox and Ed Synakowski, who alternated a year ago. Utah has Gordon "Scooter" Longmire, a transfer from Michigan State.

The Sun Devils of Arizona State won the conference title last year when they played one more conference game than Utah which also had an 8-2 over all mark and which also lost but one WAC game.

Sports writers and sportscasters in the Rocky Mountain area tabbed Arizona State to repeat as champion with Utah second, Arizona third and Wyoming fourth.

Southern California will be hard pressed to retain its "Best in the West" title. The Trojans must nevertheless figure high in the national ratings. They placed third in The Associated Press poll of a year ago.

In addition to Jones, they have flanker Bobby Chandler, fullback Charlie Evans and tailback Clarence Davis returning. From the frosh, they have fullback Sam Cunningham, tailback Rod McNeill and quarterback Mike Rae.

Weaver, at 214 and 6 foot 2, leads the Trojans' defensive charge and could be the Trojans' No. 1 candidate for post-season honors.

Stanford's bid to halt the dominance of the Los Angeles teams rests with Plunkett, a 6-foot 3 senior weighing 204. A year ago, he completed 197 passes in 336 attempts for 2,373 yards and 20 touchdowns.

He added 413 yards rushing for 2,786 total offense and the totals for passing yardage, touchdown passes and total offense all were Pac-8 records.

What Coach John Ralston can assemble defensively could prove another major factor in the destinies of the Indians.

At UCLA, where the Bruins came from a dismal 1968 season to finish 8-1-1, Coach Tommy Prothro has 22 lettermen but only six starters from 1969. An injury forced fullback Mickey Cureton out for the season and may have ended his career.

At Oregon, Frei has 14 starters back and Oregon State has 31 lettermen and no one takes either lightly this time around. Running back Bobby Moore could be the Oregon standout while. But, the championship could wind up going to the team with the best defense."

Coach John McKay of USC cuts the line a little finer, saying, "If you don't play pass defense, you're going to get beat."

What's true in the Pacific-8 also is true in the Western Athletic Conference.

Arizona State, 3-2 in 1969, has its quarterback, Joe Spagnola, returning. Arizona has Brian Linstrom who set conference sophomore total offense and passing records last year. Letters To The Editor

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:
We constantly hear the key words "Generation Gap" in our everyday living. In fact, your organization might have considered this for a program topic.

Because of the widespread concern for the stability of the family structure, an area training meeting is being offered to Extension and community leaders on the topic "Family Communications," at Grace United Methodist Church.

Miss Barbara Armstrong, resident instructor, family life, in the School of Home Economics at Ohio State University will lead the morning session on the topic "Family Communication, Blocks and Bridges." Teaching outlines and materials for the local club members will be provided.

A luncheon is being offered for $2.00. Please call the Extension Office (335-1150) by Thursday, Sept. 10, if you would like to make a reservation. I hope at last one member of your group can attend this training session on family communication, Wednesday, Sept. 16 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Grace United Methodist Church.

County Extension Agent,

More than half of the most devastating weeds in the United States originally came from Europe or Eurasia, most of them brought over by man, accidentally or intentionally.

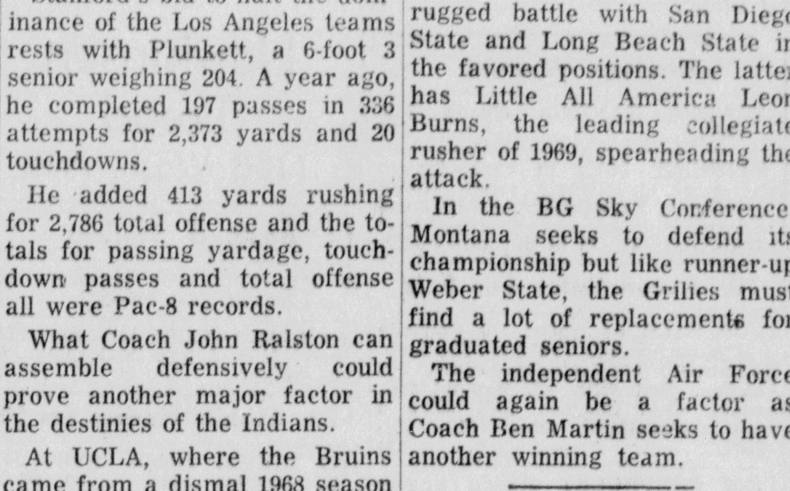

Indians discovered maple syrup, supposedly when boiling gummy moosemeat in sweet maple sap. Further boiling of the syrup provided the first colonists with their cheapest supply of sugar.

CHEVY'S NEW LITTLE CAR IS OPEN FOR BUSINESS.

We call it Vega.
We also call it "the little car that does everything well."
Because it does.

Everything? Everything.
Vega moves well, stops well, steers well, rides well, handles well, responds well, passes well, travels well, parks well, wears well, and is priced well under what you'd expect to pay for such a talented little car.

In our highway tests, Vega has been getting gas mileage in the neighborhood of the little imports, which isn't a bad neighborhood.

Yet unlike your average little car, ours steps right out when you step on the gas.

The engine is a specially designed overhead cam four with a lightweight aluminum alloy block. It turns slowly and quietly at turnpike speeds, with power to spare.

Disc brakes are standard in the front. So are bucket seats, except on the truck.

How we doing so far?

Numbers speak louder than words.
The wheelbase is 97 inches.
Total length is just under 170 inches, or nearly four feet shorter than a full-size Chevrolet.

Height of the coupe is just 50 inches, nine inches lower than the leading import.
Width: a nice stable 5 1/2 feet.
Weight: 2,190 lbs. for the sedan.
Engine displacement: 140 cubic inches.

Fuel economy: about 25 mpg, with the standard engine and transmission, in our highway tests.

Horsepower: 90. You can order 110. (80 and 93 hp, SAE Net.)
Seating capacity: 4 adults.
What it all adds up to is a lot of little car.

Three cars and a truck.
Vega turned out so well that we couldn't turn out just one.

So we're turning out four: the sporty little hatchback coupe shown open and closed in the foreground below; the sedan, on the right; the Kamback wagon, on the left; and the little panel truck, in the rear.

Oh, and a special GT version of the coupe and wagon which we'll show you later on.

September 10th is Opening Day.
All 6,300 Chevrolet dealers are handling Vega, so you shouldn't have to go very far to see and drive one.

Chevy's new little car is open for business. Look into it.

Your Horoscope

The Stars Say—By ESTRELLITA

For Tomorrow

FAVORABLE stellar influences continue to foster romance and the making of new friendships; also to stimulate creative pursuits. Mercury, somewhat restrictive, however, urges care in written matters, communications generally.

For The Birthday

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that you should have an exceptionally happy year, especially in the personal areas of your life. If you are careful to avoid friction in close circles during February and July, when your innate tendency to be over-exacting with intimates may get out of hand, you should experience smooth sailing in domestic and social concerns for most of the next 12 months.

Sentimental interests are also generously aspected for most of the year, with most auspicious periods for new romance and/or marriage indicated during October, December, late March and August. Most propitious months for travel: October, December, January, April and August.

On the occupational and monetary fronts, you also have planetary blessing. Within three weeks, you will enter a splendid 3-month cycle on the job score, so make the most of all opportunities to advance your status during these months since achievements during them will spark still further progress in late March and early May — all leading to another outstanding 3-month cycle for advancement beginning on June 1. Most auspicious periods for finances: November, January, early March and mid-July.

A child born on this day will be endowed with great integrity, practicality and literary ability; in the latter connection, could especially succeed as a book and/or drama critic.

TV Viewing

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — On the Sunday in July 1969 when astronauts Neal A. Armstrong and Edwin E. Aldrin Jr., were making their descent to the surface of the moon, CBS News had 43 cameras and crews assigned from the eastern coast of Maine to the western tip of Hawaii to cover some of the things happening in the United States.

The best results were shown Tuesday night in a special almost two hours long that was really an inspection of American life today.

Narrator Charles Kuralt with his resounding apocalyptic voice somehow made enterprises such as the production-line manufacture of cheese cake sound as impressive as the moon mission itself.

A program that occasionally ambled when it could have sprinted showed a huge variety in life styles: a wedding parlor in Las Vegas with couples getting married on credit cards; a man in Montana breaking a 3-year-old filly to saddle; a young soldier dashing into the arms of wife or sweetheart upon arriving from Vietnam.

Some shots showed early Sunday revelry in a Chicago slum bar; a middle-class couple in Florida were arguing the respective merits of a Tom Collins and a mint julep.

Perhaps the most effective and certainly the longest segment showed a team of doctors and nurses in a New York hospital working swiftly to save the life of a 4-year-old seized with convulsions.

Through all the program was heard the voices of the men in space reporting the progress of their mission.

While excessively long and frequently long-winded, it was an interesting experiment in a form novel to television.

NBC's preview of the impressive "Civilization" series—"sampling" would be the more accurate description—was composed of bits culled from the 13 one-hour programs produced by the British Broadcasting Co. and soon to be used by the National Educational Network.

The series essentially is an illustrated series of lectures on 1,600 years of Western culture — art, architecture, paintings, letters and music. The camera work is superb—cathedrals, palaces, paintings and landscapes were shown lovingly and leisurely. The commentary by Kenneth Clark, a British historian, was tremendously learned yet witty and informal.

A 13-hour seminar on Western civilization may not be every TV viewer's cup of tea, but those who enjoy that sort of thing and even students watching on assignment, may find it exciting.

Marge Champion Kept Busy By Dance Classes In Watts

By GENE HANDSAKER

Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sweat runs in rivulets from strands of her brown hair. "Kick! ... Kick! ... Kick!" she commands, and 30 black youngsters kick along with her.

This is Marge Champion, whom Walt Disney talent scouts plucked as a child from her father's dancing school to pose as the model for Snow White.

Later she was half of the famed married dance team, Marge and Gower Champion.

Gower is now a director-choreographer, with such stage hits to his credit as "Bye Bye Birdie," "Carnival" and "Hello Dolly!" He directed the musical film version of "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" and is now preparing two movies, a stage show and a television special. And Marge?

Mondays and Wednesdays she makes the 45-minute drive from their handsome Hollywood Hills home—built by California Gov. Ronald Reagan when he was an actor, married to Jane Wyman—to conduct dance classes—in Watts.

A Negro youth raps eloquent time on two 3-foot-tall congo drums and Marge leads her tight-clad pupils in kicks, bends and weaving exercises. The summer days are hot, and the old building ventilation is poor.

Mrs. Champion has been doing this as an unpaid volunteer for a year and a half—eight hours a week, plus more time at board meetings and fund-raising events. She was interested in the project by Marie Bryant, a Negro dancer friend and a co-instructor whom Marge met in 1946 when both were in the cast of Broadway's "Beggars Holiday."

The scene is the Mafundi Institute, once a department store on East 103rd Street, called "Charcoal Alley" when Negro riots razed many buildings in 1965. Mafundi in Swahili means "artisan-craftsman."

Supported by donations, the institute's free classes include drama, modeling, music and film-making. Raymond St. Jacques teaches drama when his acting assignments permit. Raymond Burr and Don Mitchell taught acting before going back to work on "irpside" Marge's pu's range in age

New Zoning Class For Mobile Homes Urged By Planners

A new zoning classification for mobile homes was recommended Tuesday night by the Washington C. H. Planning Commission.

The recommendation will be forwarded to City Council for action.

The proposed classification, designated R-4, would be for mobile home parks and would be related to residential zones. Currently the classification for mobile home parks is listed among the business districts.

A request by Realtor Kenneth Bumgarner for rezoning of 168 acres of land east of Paint Creek in the former Story farm, CCC Highway-E, was amended by the commission.

Bumgarner had requested that the land be zoned as a business district so that he could create a mobile home park there. The commission amended the request to fit the proposed mobile home zoning classification of R-4 that they suggested to Council.

The request to rezone the land for a mobile home park was granted by the commission.

ACCESS to the proposed park would be off Stuckey Road only, according to Bumgarner. There would be no connection between the mobile homes park and either the Gilmore or Storybrook subdivisions.

A park section along the creek would be used as a natural boundary between the mobile homes project and the other adjacent residential subdivisions. Bumgarner said.

A petition to refuse permission to construct a bridge on Buckeye Road between the Storybrook and Gilmore subdivisions also was presented.

The petition was signed by residents of the Gilmore Subdivision.

Commission Chairman Charles Mustine told those present that no action could be taken on their petition because the commission had received no request to consider construction of the connecting bridge.

Mustine said that the petition would be recorded in the event that such a request is made.

CITY COUNCIL had referred the property owners to the Planning Commission after the petition had been presented to them.

The replatting of the Temple Street area was approved by the commission, and requests for changes in subdivision regulations were considered.

The relocation of Temple Street and the Temple Street bridge will be necessary to meet state requirements on the size and sharpness of street curves. The bridge and street will be moved slightly north of their currently locations to meet the state requirements.

OSU 'Majority Rights' Leader Is Rotary Speaker

Students for Majority Rights, and its efforts to use the court system to keep Ohio State University open despite action to close it, was discussed by one of the organization's leaders at a Rotary Club meeting here Tuesday noon.

John Coppeler, 23, Columbus, a journalism student at the university, described the alleged actions by several student groups which resulted in the May 7 closing of the 47,000-student university.

Demands that the administration could not possibly meet were presented to the board of trustees by a group of students seeking to disrupt and close the institution, Coppeler told Rotarians. He did not specifically mention the demands.
